Mostly the choice of wood affects the look of the dining table. Different types of wood give different feels to a room. Mahogany remains an executive choice owing to the rarity and perfect finish it accords the table. Round rattan dining tables are such an example of perfect workmanship. The figure not only shows perfection but gives that completeness. Extensible tables are also available to cater for that additional number of visitors. However, conservative clients would hope for a fixed option.

Most of these sets come in varying shades and numbers. Depending on the size of the family, whether a small nuclear family or that perfect extended family reunion, one has limitless possibilities in number of seats and tables. From a simple 3 seater to a large number of seats, round rattan dining sets don't disappoint. <https://www.gardencentreshopping.co.uk/why-choose-round-rattan-dining-sets>
